

Snow Globe Book Report

Due: December 12th

For the November/December book report, you will be creating a snow globe to tell about the book you read!

Cover Page: Create a NEW cover for your book! Think about your favorite part, the characters, and/or setting to help you create the cover. Please do not just copy the cover of your book, make it new and exciting!

Setting: Describe the setting of your book. Make sure to use complete sentences!

Summaries: Write summaries to tell about the beginning, middle, and end of your book. Summaries should be 2 – 3 sentences and tell the big ideas, not specific details. Here are example summaries for a book we read in class called George's Marvelous Medicine.

Beginning: George decides to make Granny a new medicine that will cure her crankiness. He uses items he can find in his house and on the farm.

Middle: When George gives the concoction to Granny, she grows taller than the house. George also gives his new medicine to the animals on their farm, and they all grow huge.

End: George runs out of medicine and makes a new batch, but he doesn't get the recipe right. When Granny accidentally drinks it, she disappears!

Next: Think about what your characters might do after the story is over. Will they celebrate their accomplishments or set out on a new adventure? You get to decide!

Rating: How would you rate your book? Use a complete sentence to tell why you gave it that rating.

Assemble: Cut out each snow globe page and staple them together at the top.

At this point in the year, I encourage students to read chapter books (graphic novels with chapters work too). There are a lot of great chapter books for all reading levels. Here are some recommendations:

Easier Chapter Books: Hey Jack!, Billie B Brown, Amelia Bedelia, Horrible Harry

Grade-Level Chapter Books: A to Z Mysteries, Magic Tree House, Cam Jansen, Hidden Scrolls, Encyclopedia Brown, Bad Kitty chapter books, Dragon Masters
