Reading Comprehension

Read the passage.

The Ten Commandments

Moses and the children of Israel camped in the desert in front of Mount Sinai. God told Moses to meet Him on the mountain. God's chosen people needed rules to guide them because they had seen the Egyptians worshipping false gods and doing many sinful things. God wanted to show them the best way to live.

Moses went up the mountain, and for 40 days God spoke with Moses there. God also carved rules for the people into tablets of stone with His finger. When Moses started back down Mount Sinai toward the Israelite camp, he heard the people shouting. Their shouts didn't sound like those of a battle, but rather like a party. As Moses got closer, he could see what was happening in the camp. The people had used gold to make an idol shaped like a cow, and they were worshipping it.

Moses was so angry that he threw the stone tablets to the ground and they broke. God had just performed miracles to deliver them from Egypt, yet they had chosen to turn away from worshipping the one true God. They had to suffer a terrible plague as punishment for their sin. Moses destroyed the idol and reestablished order in the camp. He went back to the mountain, and again the Lord carved the rules for the Israelites on stone tablets. This time when Moses returned to camp, the people were waiting for the rules the Lord had written for them.
